

Revisions to Authorization to Exclude Form, Policies Set to Roll Out Starting Next Week

The RMLS™ Rules Committee has finalized revisions to the Office Exclusive/Authorization to Exclude Addendum. These changes—which will impact the form itself and the RMLS™ Rules and Regulations—were approved by the RMLS™ Board of Directors and will start rolling out next week.

Most notably, the form will have a new title: Authorization to Exclude from MLS Addendum. Clients listing a property who wish to exclude their property from RMLS™ will now need to initial their understanding of specific components. These components remind sellers about the value of listing their property on a multiple listing service.

The RMLS™ Rules and Regulations will see some slight adjustments due to this rollout, mostly related to the form's title change.

View associated documents below:

- Authorization to Exclude from MLS Addendum
- Authorization to Exclude from MLS Addendum E-Form
- Authorization to Exclude from MLS Addendum REDLINE
- Rules and Regulations REDLINE
- Rules and Regulations
- Washington Listing Contract REDLINE
- Oregon Listing Contract REDLINE

Subscribers are advised to switch to using the new forms immediately. It will take some time for the changes to be reflected outside the RMLS™ system (for example, OREF zipForms), but RMLS™ is working hard to get changes reflected across all platforms as quickly as possible.

Questions about the revised Authorization to Exclude from MLS Addendum? Contact RMLS™ Data Accuracy at (503) 236-7657.