

The Business Case for High Performance Buildings (Portland)

Earth Advantage® and the Institute for Market Transformation present a course about how niche green concepts are evolving into high performance standards across office, retail, and industrial segments and what commercial practitioners need to know to take advantage of sustainability trends.

Registration is required and up to 3.5 CE credits are available for attendees. Learn more or register for The Business Case for High Performance Buildings (Portland).