

Broker Education Series (Brookings)

RMLS™ invites real estate professionals to attend their Broker Education Series event in the Brookings area. RMLS™ staff will present Realtors Property Resource® (RPR). Attendees will learn how to utilize RPR as a tool for applying integrated data sources to better serve home buyers and sellers. This course will include an overview of specific features such as property history, value refinement, market activity, and neighborhood information. This course will also utilize information on how to create a CMA, utilize chart and graph comparisons to educate consumers, and explore the RPR investment analysis tool. Finally, the course will include an in-depth review of RPR Mobile™. This class is worth 3CE in Oregon.

All real estate professionals are welcome to attend, but registration is required. Register for the RMLS™ Broker Education Series event in the Brookings area.